All Around Me

Rebecca St. James

Yesterday, mid-afternoon
My thoughts kept turning back to You
In my mind, You'd flood my head
With echoes of the things You said

Hey, I cannot explain
The thought of who You are
Makes me understand

If I see my world come tumbling down
If I feel my heart touching the ground
You're all around me
If everything starts to fade away
And all I can do is call Your name
You're all around me

Yesterday, mid-afternoon
My thoughts kept turning back to You
From the sky stretched into space
To the sunshine on my face

Hey, I cannot explain
I see You in it all
I hear You call my name

If I see my world come tumbling down
If I feel my heart touching the ground
You're all around me
If everything starts to fade away
And all I can do is call Your name
You're all around me