Reciprocal

From below the permafrost
Of the arctic

Regions lay species unknown
Since the Cryogenian period They wait ten million years to be unleashed

Immersed continually within the glacial mass
Mankind extenuates the anguish of their habitat
The warming of the globe will emancipate
An apocalyptic inevitable fate Enormous, vastly exceeding the traits of extant life Winged Beast navigating through water air or land
No escape, predatory nature will eradicate Removal, seek and destroy all living entities

Ice-cores de-crystallize cleansing native life discharging Archaic malignant reptilia Beasts, by design, enshrined for this rightful time
Now liberated they ruthlessly clear the populace Colonies of ancient life descending from the skies Grasping mounds of earthly flesh and tearing to shreds Screams go unheard their bellowing overwhelms For fifty thousand years they dominate the earth

An epoch of doom, cataclysmic degree Until a new age of frozen earth Waters and mass begin to congeal
Frostbite disseminates, existence now null Change in earth's atmosphere Gas levels drop Continents shift with force Polar seas rise Earths orbit alternates
Sun light declines

Output Diminishing
Sunspots convect
Volcanoes Blanketing
Earth with Aerosol
The

Ice age has arrived Nature preserves the ancient beast
