

Best Forever Yet

Reckless Kelly

She tells me that time flies indeed, it's here and then it's gone

Just like her, except time ain't needing something or someone

Living for tomorrow, will tomorrow ever come?

And I see she wants to borrow, some time that I was from

And now I know she's gonna tell me

That I'm her number one and I bet she's gonna say I'm still the best forever yet

Too much thinking and too much aching has put a big strain on my pride

I'm tired of drinking and I'm tired of taking her memory for a ride

I used to think that yesterday, we knew how to spend the time

Then I found out it was her way, of killing hers and wasting mine

And now I know that I should tell her, all that tears are gonna get her is wet

But you know I can't cause she's the best forever yet

And now I know that she don't miss me while she's doing whatever she does

And I know that she wouldn't call me if she knew where I was, even if she knew where I was

And now I know that I still miss her and I'm trying real hard to forget

And I wish somebody new was the best forever yet

I wish somebody new was the best forever yet
