

Righteous Majority

Red Harvest

For damn too long I've lived my life, thinking, speaking as I w as supposed to do,
Playing my part just for you, succeed in life, be one of us,
Straight forward on the safest line -
Well, hell, I've got some news for you,
I want responsibility of my life!
I won't sustain your dogmas, or speak your words and claim them as my own,
Just to please you, the authority!

But it's hard to raise your voice with an Uzi in your back,
I revolt, I disagree with the norms set by the old men,
I speak up, I will be heard, words of change won't be unspoken!

All as one [I'll be myself],
One grey mass [I won't abide],
That is how [I won't succumb]
It should be...
I know I have a different point of view,
And I know that's not acceptable to you,
You will do [the hell I will]
As you're told [I will go my own way]...

Oppress the thinking, they might think the wrong way,
Applaud the thoughtless, they're guided easily,
It was my belief that even the minorities had a valid voice in our society,
Maybe I am wrong, but I had an illusion of the perfect,
An utopic dream of a world where I could dwell,
Optimistic people have a lack of information,
Distorted eyes can't see beyond the lies which clouds the futur e of our lives!

Now you see [leave me alone],
And you know [I can't take no more],
You're too small [just leave me alone]
And we're too strong!

Lif the burden of an independet mind off my shoulders, my dream s I resing...
All you need [I kneel before you]
Is disciplin, lick the soles of your feet, I close my eyes to t he world outside -
I will live my life silent, obidient, now I am afraid to disgra ce myself
In front of the righteous majority...

My revolt seizes to exist, to the approval of the old men,

I remain forever silent, words of change remain unspoken...
