

Fire Rising

Red Line Chemistry

Holed up forever
Inside the winter of your dream
Light the fire
Take back the loss of revelry
Dark days devour
Removes the light from everything
Crack the window
Pull back the shade and let it rise

Let it rise
And you'll find
That the sun will free your mind
Take the shell of a man
Put some faith in his hand
Come on out of the hiding
Where ever you go
You should know
We're the ones you call your own
All the pain and love
The grenades and drugs
Yeah we're all in the fire

I'll wait for you if you believe
In the fire rising
Tomorrow burn your suffering
And the sun will rise again

Self served destruction
State of complete emergency
Medicated
Shut down the world outside and run

Let him run
From the sun
Far away from everyone
Where the grace of a man
Turns to dust in his hands
Come on out of the hiding
Where ever you go
You should know
We're the ones you call your own
All the pain and love
The grenades and drugs
Yeah we're all in the fire

I'll wait for you if you believe
In the fire rising
Tomorrow burn your suffering
And the sun will rise again

And the sun will rise again
And your eyes open wide to the sky
And you finally decide not to lay down and die
Ride with the tide you believe you can fly
Then you soar out of your mind
I'll wait for you if you believe
In the fire rising

Tomorrow burn your suffering
And the sun will rise again