

I Should Start Running

Red Sovine

Here you are in my arms again I should start running
Before you break my heart again I should start running

I tried and tried to cast aside the love I hold for you
But the time like this makes me forget that you were untrue
My heart says run you foolish one your lips tell me to stay
I'm caught between a right and wrong and don't know which to ta ke

Here you are in my arms...

[strings]

Here you are in my arms...