Leviathan Rising

Redemption

Leviathan rises From the ocean of our fear Falling to our knees we cower Bequeathing to this edifice A monopoly of force This parasitic beast is drunk with power

We've let our fears destroy Our dignity and freedom And turned our backs on all The principles we once held dear

Behemoth rises From the soils of jealousy Equality enforced on pain of death Mistaking mankind's progress For a dialectic truth And smothering the spirit that's behind it

From each according to ability we'll give away To each according to his need Until the years grind into dust

Cast off the chains we've made And refuse to dig our graves Stand up, the lives we save Will be our own

Reclaiming liberty We'll starve the beast

We've let our fears destroy Our dignity and freedom And placed ourselves beneath the heel Of our own entitlement

Cast off the chains we've made And refuse to dig our graves Stand up, the lives we save Will be our own
