

On This Dawn

Reflexion

Before I go I got things to say
Because I will wait, I know you wont come today
I refuse to say that you're gone away
I'm just hiding the pain every day
And I hate this rain that keeps feeding my pain
Everything feels so in vain
Have I lost my flame? Am I afraid?
Why do I even care?

I need you to understand,
I would kill for a day without being sad

I wait for you, I pray for you,
I wanted you to wake me up on this dawn so cold

I needed the day when you said
"Hey, hey let's do this our way"
But now it's all gone away
I deserve this pain, for ever rain
For us it's just too late

I need you to understand,
I would kill for a day without being sad

I wait for you, I pray for you,
I wanted you to wake me up on this dawn so cold
I wait for you, I pray for you,
I wanted you to wake me up with your kiss so warm

You know I'm drowning, without you I'm dying
I know tomorrow brings more sorrow
Waiting and craving for you to save me
With nothing to hold on, trying to carry on

I wait for you, I pray for you,
I wanted you to wake me up on this dawn so cold
I wait for you, I pray for you,
I wanted you to wake me up with your kiss so warm
