

Just Another Beautiful Story

Regurgitator

All that i am and all i'll ever be
is a brain in a body all that i know and all i'll ever see is the real things around me

All i've heard and it's true there ain't no god there's just me and you i don't see a point to this place but i'm happy to floating in space

I won't mind if you're holding my hand and life seems to fly when you don't understand it the world turns around and it don't give a damn if we all die away and we never come back again

All that i am and all i'll ever be
is a brain in a body
live till i die and then run away it's a beautiful story

All i've heard and it's true
there ain't no god there's just me and you
i don't see a point to this place
i'm happy to floating in outer space

I won't mind if you're holding my hand
and life seems to fly when you don't understand it
the world turns around and it don't give a damn
if we all die away and we never come back again

I won't mind if you're holding my hand
and life seems to fly when you don't understand it
the world turns around and it don't give a damn
if we all die away and we never come back again