

Wellcome my friend
To the end of all of love's existence, if one just can't live out their lives today.
So young, so innocent for all we know
But someone had to end her life
Not every tear will fall
There still remain some humanity inside us
All that we can understand

I will fly like a dragonfly tonight
Sky is my limit
Flying away to the stars

This girl of younger age
Were never to return again
One night she fell into the pawn of his hand
Now an angel of sadness flying high above
In heaven she will wait for you
All these tears she have cried
She wait for you
In eternity you'll meet again
Until the end of time