

Final Destination

ReinXeed

When you're on your own, facing the world alone you can never be sure

But I do know, that you and I, will soon be one

I was your knight, that was holding you tight forever

Now when the times are over, you know you can prevail

Final Destination, we have heard its call, and we will never stop the fight

I hear you calling for me

People dream all night, all day, and all morning, but some won't come true

You're the one I'm searching for, so where can you be

Open your eyes, there is a world outside, that's hiding

Even the strongest man is weak, you know you can prevail

Final Destination, we have heard its call, and we will never stop the fight

I hear you calling for me