

Thy Decay

Remembrance

These empty oceans
Retired from an earth
They don't belong anymore

Trees are dying
Withering their last leaf
Following their fate
Wishing they could belong
To something else than a stifling air

The skies are blackened
By the doom of their stars

Just unveil my eyes

A desperate lack of strength
Nothing but a reflection in a mirror
Within myself I'm dead
Nothing's left anymore