

Life in Rain

Remy Zero

I once had marigolds for eyes
I'd seem to fade on sunny days
When it's cold as the rain outside
Well, then, so am I

So when it comes down
You'll know, I'm with you
And how could I show you?

It feels good to know
It feels good to know you

We once had oceans left to fly
Now the trees and the river have parted ways
When it seems like the phone has died
Well, then, so have I

So when it comes down
You'll know, I'm with you
How could I show you?

It feels good to know
It feels good to know you
And how will you know?

We storm from a small, thin line
We're torn from the old frames
There's no one here to pull you back again

So when it comes down
You'll know, you'll know

Helena spilt to the ground
(How do I show you?)
Should've known
Soon she would come down.

Words were the first thing to go
(It feels good to know)
The light they would never show

Helena
(And how will you know?)
Helena
(And how do I show you?)
Helena
(How can you show you)
Helena

(Helena)
It feels good to know
(Helena)
It feels good to know you
(Helena)
It feels good to know you
