Bitter Sweet

Renaissance

Sometimes with you there's no need to speak Old friends whose paths will more than often meet Sometimes I smile and you ask me why Memories of ours are always bitter sweet

Sometimes in dreams you are near to me Closer than you and I could ever be Sometimes you smile and I wonder why Memories of you are always bitter sweet

A lonely cello fades with the sun And then I wake and my dreams are done And bitter sweet glimpses haunt me Dreaming of love that may never ...

... Be sure that you're never lonely
Know that I'm here, should your heart be free
Then we may smile at our memories, together now
Our dreams are more, than bitter sweet
