

What could I do to change your mind
I know it's through my way of life
I feel the rage when I sleep
Why does it have to be a mystery
I live my life as I drink the wine
Much to fast it can never last
To stand alone that's still my curse

How can I erase your memories
I can hear myself screaming
In total frustration
How can I erase your memories
I don't like what I found here
And it's only beginning
How can I erase your memories

You were nice you tried so hard
I was tough acting for my self
I had to learn I had to face
That time was running out for me
No candlelights can save me now
They're all burned down and so am I
Thousand miles away from you...

How can I erase your memories
I can hear myself screaming
In total frustration
How can I erase your memories
I don't like what I found here
And it's only beginning
How can I erase your memories

It's in the game and I'm to blame
I feel it's tearing me apart
It's never fare it's just my share
When your rip my soul apart
Constantly it's hard to be
Standing up in this lullaby....

What could I do to change your mind
I know it's through my way of life
I feel the rage when I sleep
Why does it have to be a mystery
I live my life as I drink the wine
Much to fast it can never last
To stand alone that's still my curse

How can I erase your memories
I can hear myself screaming
In total frustration
How can I erase your memories
I don't like what I found here
And it's only beginning
How can I erase your memories
