Dark Carnival

Resurrection Band

A handful of tickets, already paid for A heart full and jaded, taken for too many rides I'm still looking for somewhere to spend these Dreams on the midway Between my heart and my mind I hear echoes In these rusty landscapes The sounds of the sunlight Bounce off these cold winter walls Deep inside, I move without memory From shadow to shadow In this dark carnival