

Sorry, why should I be sorry
I'm not sorry
Just because you think I'm wrong
Sorry, doesn't mean I'm fucking wrong

Sorry for nothing
There's always something
Some one, some where some where, Don't care

Discrepancies not often seen
Smile and a hand shake

Turning gears, a lightbulb lights
Neatness and greed shines from the dark
It's not out of the blue
To expect this from you

A friend's only worth the good they do
A friend's only worth the good they do
So I've been expecting this from you

Sorry, why should I be sorry
I'm not sorry
Why should I be

(Why should I be) Bending over backwards to become safe with you
(I'm not) Turning you around anymore to do what you got (Why should I be) So fucking overwhelmed

Sorry, why should I be sorry
I'm not sorry
Just because you think I'm wrong
Sorry, doesn't mean I'm fucking wrong

Sorry, why should I be sorry
I'm not sorry
Just because you think I'm wrong
Sorry, doesn't mean I'm fucking wrong