Open Your Window

Reverend and the Makers

She goes away today And he gives her a photo to help her remember History of Art BA It's alright cos she's back in late November

But he knows not of who she's been mixing By Christmas she's lying no calling she tricks him

So he goes up to stay And he don't like her friends, and he hadn't heard of Nietzche She's seems so far away The distance is further each time he meets her

"Who's the bloke on the wall next to Ringo and Paul? "It's Che" she says "Have ya seen him before?"

Open your window Won't you let her out Wave goodbye to the butterfly The one you can't be without

Open Your Window Won't you set her free Where you are is where she's at and the place she's meant to be

He thinks they've grown apart Now she uses big words like surreal and genre And I know it breaks his heart There's thousands of fellas just like it before ya

"Who's the bloke on the wall next to Ringo and Paul? Is he some kind of expert on guerilla war?"

Open your window Won't you let her out Wave goodbye to the butterfly The one you can't be without

Open Your Window Won't you set her free Where you are is where she's at and the place she's meant to be

Open your window Won't you let her out Wave goodbye to the butterfly The one you can't be without

We'll be together in the springtime We'll be together in springtime

We'll be together in the springtime (you and I) Yes we'll be together in the springtime (x2)