I found out You were In a mess You caught me playin songs for you

Lipstick stains
On your ciggarettes
You caught me playin songs for you
And it's bending my mind again

Interesting how you watch the night And look right through me Facing the sky
When I ask you why
You look right through me

Climbed the fire to the hidaway
You caught me slipping on a thought
Practical in the things you say
You caught me slipping on a thought
And it's bending my mind again

Interesting how you watch the night And look right through me Facing the sky
When I ask you why
You look right through me

We get lucky and Turned around the space you got to find yourself We slip up when we haven't found The space you got to find yourself

And it's bending my mind again

Interesting how you watch the night And look right through me
