

Your Wall

Revis

You've got a way
Of watching the world divide
You into place
Direction is lost in flight

Everyone is gone
Let it slip away
Look at you
At the end of it

This moment arrives
And it takes you further inside
In through your wall again
That covers you once your in
In through your wall again
Until you can reach the end

I can see through
When communication is gone
The pieces of you
Fall down from the cloud you were on

Now everyone is gone
Let it slip away
Look at you now your at the end

This moment arrives
And it takes you further inside
Into your wall again
That covers you once your in
In through your wall again
Until you can reach the end
In through your wall

Empty your head and the rest will come
I missed you then the moment was gone
Look at you now

This moment arises
And it takes you further inside
Lost your place but no one can tell
That your sick of losing yourself