Madness Opus

Revocation

It beckons to me, a being of immense and terrifying power A portal to a dimension of chaos lies just beyond my window Hungrily it feeds, eagerly swallowing souls of thousands I prepare this first movement to combat the unknown

No one must know my secret
I'll take a life to keep it
I cannot rest until this final demon is defeated
My nightly ritual
A captivated minstrel
This is the madness in which I dwell

Curtains drawn, candles lit, contorted shadows cast Staring into the maw of the void Where infernal incisors endlessly gnash

A blasphemous sonata echoes throughout the halls Reverberations in the interdimensional gateway The abomination demands an encore A rhapsodist to this galactic titan enslaves

Cosmic horror beyond infinite time
Entranced by the melodies perverted and sublime
A caprice for the beast
An amorphous entity's malign lullaby