

Tomorrow Turns

Rex Goudie

People pass and dont look back
Dropping penies in a hat
And moving on
We try so hard to climb that rope
Still you're weighing down your hope with so much want

The angel on your shoulders gone
You're slowing to crawl and Too afraid to move at all

Dont worry where youre going
Dont worry if you fall
Dont count on whats been missing
You can have it all
Just hurry into daylight
We dont have time to waste
Lets go before tomorrow turns to yesterday

Through your wall of broken glass
We watch the whole world speeding past
You cant catch up

I'll be the ringing in your head
I'll be the voice that says
You're too young to regret before it turns to dust

Before it starts to fade
Before tomorrow drifts away before you turn around and its too late

Just hurry into daylight
We dont have time to waste
Lets go before tomorrow turns to yesterday
Turns to yesterday
Turns to yesterday
Turns to yesterday
