

Won't Have To Wait

Rex Goudie

Another song is over, I wonder where you are* My faith is growing colder, always counting all the stars
Just once last let down, baby, and tell me something new
I'm tired and so frustrated, am I better off without you?

I won't have to wait
It's far too late for me to stay
I won't have to cry
About your lies, the love just died
I'm gonna fly away this time

Another night forgotten, waiting for your call
Your face is slowly fading from the picture on my wall Just one more heart break, baby, but I never see the pain
I give you all I have to give, now there's no more love to take

I won't have to wait
It's far too late for me to stay
I won't have to cry
About your lies, the love just died
I'm gonna fly away this time

Cause' I remember how we used to be, just you and me
Give me time to explain, I wanna make it all okay

I will wait,
It's not too late for us to change

I will wait,
It's not too late for us to change
I won't have to cry
I look in your eyes and I will run
We're gonna fly away this time
