Legendary Tales

Rhapsody of Fire

And darkness covers all the land the silent river flows the jesters dance around the flame playing an ancient song

A song of mighty warriors of epic bloody fights while moonlight meets the manor's walls and I must close my eyes

Another tale of infinite wars for the defenders of holy light the fire enters my mind the blood of the innocent before my eyes spreading the wings of the dream I want to win between fire and steel for them all

Some knights sleep near fire drowned in their own red wine the elder looks at the high flame knowing the fight will reprise

The magic twittering of the birds meets the light of dawn the ancient song is fading now but my old dream carries on

Another tale of infinite wars for the defenders of holy light the fire enters my mind the blood of the innocent before my eyes spreading the wings of the dream I want to win between fire and steel for them all