

Heroes Of The Lost Valley

Rhapsody

Yes, mighty warrior
What you hear now are the suffering,
Voices of all the heroes that crossed these lands before you

They ended their tragically
But their thirst for victory is still alive
And breathers through these ancient rocks corroded
By the fury of the wind
Their pride now rides with you