Why Do Lovers?

Richard Ashcroft

Come now baby Stay in bed, don't think that it's lazy Get ourselves another god Don't let them tell us there isn't one (isn't one)

Stay, sweet honey
Life's so fast, ya know it ain't funny
Get ourselves another god
Don't let them tell us there isn't one (isn't one)

Like we are just skin Can you behold Know beauty within Know beauty inside your body You don't love any body

Why do lovers Choose others We circle, entwine one-another In that mask that we wear with each other Oh my god how I looked in that mirror I looked in a hollow picture It was something I could frame

That's right, sweet-heart Life's tough now, life can be hard Don't blame me for these pressures in life Don't blame me for this sacrifice (sacrifice)

Ok, sweet-heart Take your time, I know lovers they part Time slows when you're in love And time moves so fast when it's gettin' on (gettin' on)

Cos we are just skin Can you behold I know beauty within Know beauty inside my body I don't love any body

Why do lovers Choose others To mirror their pain, yeah Slow down stranger You know that you're in danger These demons have got their own names, yeah Ready for you to lay it onnnnnnn

Oohhhh
