Away From You

Richard Smallwood

Say you got a minute?

Because I'd like to tell you something.

You may think nothing of it,

but wait... you're gonna love it.

What if I told you I held the one true philosophy?

Would you hear me out or just turn your back and laugh at me?

Lord, I just don't understand this strange creature you call man.

Who thinks he lives by his own hand,

but I know, I know, I know...

There's no life away from you... So I will remain still and silent, for fear of the words I may say. And am I still in my defiance, When I'm trying so hard to obey.