It's gonna get better It's gonna get better. . .better You're feeling all alone Your pain is very real It seems to be no way out Just look above and deep inside You can survive It's gonna get better Don't give up now please It's gonna get better Just stick around Weeping may endure for a night But joy will come There's hope so will you stay It's gonna get better It's gonna get better Please don't throw your life away You've worth much more than gold Even though you weren't told Each day is a gift so live And watch your miracles unfold You can survive Things will really soon get much brighter The sun is going to shine again Hang in there and you'll be much stronger You will survive It's gonna get better Don't give up now please It's gonna get better Just stick around Weeping may endure for a night But joy will come There's hope so will you stay It's gonna get better It's gonna get better Please don't throw your life away Love has brought you this far And it will lead you to that light It's gonna get better Don't give up now please It's gonna get better Just stick around Weeping may endure for a night But joy will come There's hope so will you stay It's gonna get better It's gonna get better Please don't throw your life away
