Prayer

Richie Havens

To all those outside the inner side Let not your heart be heavy There are those who understand It is not easy It is not easy to tell a lie

To all those inside the outer side Let not your head be heavy There are those who understand It is not easy It is not easy to know what to do

And to all those who understand Let not your words be heavy There is he who understands It is not easy It is not easy to be a mother and a father.