Free

Rick Springfield

So this is the cage that I built, why I built it I don't know It's bars made of anger and guilt, no lock, but somehow it just wouldn't let me go. All hail the messenger of love. I got your message loud and clear. Now I'm hungry to be healed and you can't, you can't keep me away

(I'm free) When we are one, I am complete
(I'm free) And I'm undone and I will be healed in your eyes.

I had to close a door in my life for another one to open so I could go through, though I had no guiding light, and no signs somehow it still lead me to you. I learned a lesson here in love and it's ringing loud and clear Now I'm ready to be reveal all the things that before I could never say

When we are one, I am complete, I'm undone, and I will be healed at last.