

Nothing Is Ever Lost

Rick Springfield

Nothing is ever lost
We just lose sight along the way
As the sun melts the frost and its light will heal the day

Turning everything to hate is the way that holds you down And if you keep your fingers crossed your heart and hope to die someday burning down the castle gate It's too late, you paid a cost

When you find your light then nothing's ever lost