

The Invisible Girl

Rick Springfield

Yeah call the priest and bury me
I think I'm already dead
I wish somebody would bring you back to me
Or take you out of my head
I think you said that you loved me, I must have missed the inflection
I put a bandaid on the bullet wound and ignored the infection

I see her everywhere
the invisible girl
And everything's alright
She's dancing by the fire
and she's looking at me

It's 6 o'clock in your little town, maybe
As you get ready to go out for the night
Some pretty stranger's
gonna take you down,
But I can't make that feel alright
I was in love with the ghost in you
You were my apparition
It doesn't matter if it goes the way you want it too Cause life's a suicide mission

I see her everywhere
the invisible girl
And everything's alright
She's dancing by the fire
and she's looking at me

I see her on the stairs
the invisible girl
And she's with me tonight She's aching with desire but she loves only me

I guess you did what you had to do to survive I'm pretty sure I'm not angry anymore baby

Hey (invisible girl)
I'm not angry anymore baby

I see her everywhere
