

I can pull you much closer to me, if I try But the minute I face you, you see, I just walk by The sound of the hallway could cheer me up, but at the same time push me down
to the deepest of solitude

So the love I found is within me, all the joy you bring
is mine
He sits down and looks up at the city, all the days
will always shine
Every night and every day

All the voices I hear are changing colors now
All I wanna do is hug their shoulders now
The sound of the station could cheer me up,
but at the same time push me down
to the deepest of solitude

is mine
He sits down and looks up at the city, all the days
will always shine
Every night and every day

Tiny plastic pens, scribbling on a daydream, be carefree from them all And letting it go and looking back made it harder for me to be free
As you know and as you don't know, as you wish and as you don't wish Count to three and that's that

is mine
He sits down and looks up at the city, all the days
will always shine
Every night and every day
