

I Don't Believe You

Ringo Starr

I don't believe you,
'Cause i've been lied to.
Girl, you know you've done me wrong,
(i can see it in your face)
I can't take much more of this.
(gonna put you in your place)
Tellin' lies won't get you far,
I learned that in my youth.
I'm giving you just one more chance,
And all i want from you is truth.

I don't believe you,
'Cause i've been lied to.
Forget about your credit cards,
(and all your fancy clothes)
Forget about my rings and things.
(and the powder for your nose)
It wouldn't take that much from you
To keep me satisfied.
But you won't see my face no more
If you don't stop telling lies.

I don't believe you,
'Cause i've been lied to.
I don't believe you,
'Cause i've been lied to.

I love you, girl, that much is true,
The truth is staring back at you.
But you always break my heart in two.
Oh, why?

I know you think what's wrong is right,
You seem so happy when we fight,
So i won't b coming home tonight,
No lie, no lie.

Ole! Ole!

Said all that there is to say,
(you better make up your mind)
If you look into these lonely eyes.
(the truth is what you'll find)
It wouldn't take that much from you
To keep you satisfied.
But the next time that you do me wrong,
I'll be kissing you goodbye.

I don't believe you,
'Cause i've been lied to.
I don't believe you,
'Cause i've been lied to.
