

Sudden Life

Rise Against

Floating in the clouds, giving up the fight
A voice is calling out, I'm walking into the light

We used to race a thousand miles a day so fast
Feet they barely even touched the ground
We used to fly to places out beyond our own little world
The fury and the sun

A sun flickered like a television set
Bright flashes of a warning sign
Vapid shadows in a world gone static
We're running away line by the fading line

Under water for years we're fine, till we started to swim, then drown
The current takes us, now we're walking into the light

Are you dying all your life? (Walking into the light)
(Walking into the light)
Broken, beaten, tired of (Walking into the light)
You wanted to love but don't know how (Walking into the light)
Diagnosis: sudden life (Walking into the light)
(Walking into the light)
Can no one revive me now?
Feels like I'm walking into the light

Woke up falling on a wave of golden sound
Tunnel vision and a great beyond
Heart beating like a rhythm slowing down
Now it's gone, I let go of a soul

A flat line and I'm closing down
Whisper a warm farewell
The flames all beckon me
As we're walking into the light

Are you dying all your life? (Walking into the light)
(Walking into the light)
Broken, beaten, tired of (Walking into the light)
You wanted to love but don't know how (Walking into the light)
Diagnosis: sudden life (Walking into the light)
(Walking into the light)
Can no one revive me now?
Feels like I'm walking into the light

Don't suppose that you know the way
Don't suppose that you care
I see lights up ahead and hear cries of angels ringing in my ears
But you know that, had you a choice, you would go back and do it again
We all have unfinished business to tend

So no I won't go gentle
Into the good night
You can keep your candle
I'm walking away from the light
Yeah I'm walking away from the light
I'm walking away from the light
I'm walking away from the light

I'm walking away from the light

Diagnosis: sudden life (Walking into the light)
(Walking into the light)

I woke up my heart racing, I'm (Walking into the light)

At a loss explaining why (Walking into the light)

Are you dying all your life? (Walking into the light)
(Walking into the light)

Now put your darkest days behind

And laugh as its right before your eyes (Walking into the light)

And for very the first time,

It feels like I'm walking away from the light