

Nothing Left

Rise To Remain

Now the departed, are laid to rest,
And the single chance to reconcile is covered with the earth
I heard her screaming, begging to the sky,
All the while the numbness culls all decency inside

I bid farewell to those forsaken eyes,
But I would hold you when theres nothing left,
I'll never let you down

So sick of trying all the time,
The blood's been spilt and it is mine,
And all thats left to breathe,
Are empty words inside my head,
And all the bullets shall unload,
Empty casings, callous hold,
The loss of one begins to burn,
But I'll take that road when its my turn

I bid farewell to those forsaken eyes,
But I would hold you when theres nothing left,
I'll never let you down

No more will I fall apart

I bid farewell to those forsaken eyes,
But I would hold you when theres nothing left,
I'll never let you down