All the same

I Chased the Cheshire looked for all the same relief And further more

I dug in further more than you can bury deep it's so Sad to see so glad you found your own way out Arraign your head with crowns invisible high

Remember why you're here is to inspire

For what it's worth

It's hollow pantomiming what's it worth to you

To be sure lick the needle to be sure you're truly through it's so

Sad to see so glad you found your own way out Arraign your head with crowns invisible high

Remember why you're here is to inspire

Apart from all of these still waves

The fissures open to align have some water friend you're lookin g pale

This wasn't part of the design

Beware the storm avoid the frozen rain

Ash the passing dusty collar

Inserting spikes for their embrace forgetting why you're here is to inspire

Quit bleeding it's how they found us so responsive draining out across the floor seeping through the chasm frail and wanting n eeding nothing less than more curtain vague illusions from the sideshow to dispel the fantasy bleeding ever bleeding always bleeding till the vein runs dry

Here take this nail and push it inside in fuckin' hatter You'll feel so much better as this nerve dies in true Alice fashion

Drive out the centering