

Diamond Eyes

Rishloo

We are not machines we are not machines programmed, encoded we are so much more, we are so much more oh the lights burning like fireflies caught in a web electricity hums in our heads we're overwhelmingly fearless when diamond eyes light up the sky, I promise you that we can c hange the world

when diamond eyes light up the sky, I promise you that we can c hange...

we are not your routines we are not your routines despite what you've told us we are all one, we are all one...

...when lights like freeways burning mirrors and melting skylin es haunt your door you should swing to connect, swing to connect the cord color, I see the rhythm in waves and onward still color, I see the rhythm in waves, the white and red, the red an d white, forever we'll know in and of itself, nothing is whole here at the end of it all I still see...
