

Unconditional

Rob Rock

Some words are never spoken, some feelings never shown But in my eyes you're perfect and all my heart you own
No matter what reason, doesn't matter what you do There's nothing that can make me walk away

I will fight the coldest winter and pray until the sun shines on our face
My love for you is so much more than feelings now
You can count on me to always be there

No matter what we face together
No matter what the hand of fate
Just remember I'll be standing there
My love is unconditional

You know there's time of sadness, anger, doubt, despair
But don't forget the good times and the promise we share Cherishing the moments, whatever life may bring You'll always have the hand of your best friend

I don't care which way the wind blows, because we've got something no one else can know When seasons change I never want you doubting me
I will always be there to stand by your side

No matter what we face together
No matter what the hand of fate
Just remember I'll be standing there
My love is unconditional
- Unconditional