

Not Just a Woman

Rob Thomas

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She's terrified and she's unafraid
She'll change her mind with the Change of the seasons
She's every reason
You'll ever need

She'll never say
What you should already know by now
Sometimes you'll swear
She can read your mind
Sometimes she'll seem as if she's broken down
Everything that's perfect
Took a little working now and then

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She'll break your heart and
She'll make you strong
And she can take you
Completely make you
So uncertain but so better off

She'll never say
What you should already know by now
Sometimes you'll swear
She can read your mind
Sometimes she'll seem as if she's broken down
Everything was working
Why'd you have to let her down again

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She's terrified and she's unafraid
She is an icon
She keeps her brights on
She'll break your heart
She's got her ways

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She's complicated with an easy smile
She is a genius
But she don't see it
She is a dream in the waking hour

She'll never say
What you should already know by now
Sometimes you'll swear
She can read your mind
Gets a little worn down
