

My Everything

Robben Ford

I love you endlessly
I could love the moon and the rain
Shining on my pillow
Quenching the thirst inside of me

We've been drawn so close together
And you've shown my heart had to sing
And I could give you my everything

Love is mystery
It'll break all the rules
One day you've got the world in your pocket
And the next is somebody's fool

Standing on the edge of a promise
You might feel uncertainty
I could give you my everything

running through my veins
When I touch your hand that's enough for me
I don't need to think it out
There's no place I rather be

I love you endlessly
I could love the moon and the rain
Shining on my pillow
Quenching the thirst inside of me

We've been drawn so close together
And you've shown my heart had to sing
And I could give you my everything
I could give you my everything
