

Swervin' In My Lane

Robert Earl Keen

Sometimes I don't know what I'm doing
'Cause sometimes all my days are filled with rain
As I travel down life's highway, things ain't going my way
'Cause there's always someone swervin' in my lane
You keep a swervin' in my lane and it's causing' lots of danger
I'm a honkin' on my horn, I'm a shooting you the finger
I keep a switchin' on my bright lights, but your just too dim t o know
When your swervin' on life's highway, your running someone off
the road

The day you drove away I thought I never Could love another. How else could I feel?
But now when you run into me, I cain't believe I could not see Your all tanked up, but no ones at the wheel

You keep a swervin' in my lane and it's causin' lots of danger
I'm a cussin' out your name, I'm a shooting you the finger
I keep a switchin' on my bright lights, but your just too dimm
to know
When your swervin' on life's highway, your running someone off

When and if I ever finally pass you Oh when I do and if I'm still alive
I want never see you, cause I'm ripping out my rear view
And I'm shifting it on in to overdrive

But your still swervin' in my lane and it's causin' lots of dan ger
I'm a stompin' on the foot feed, I'm a shooting you the finger
I keep a switchin' on my bright lights, but your just too dimm
to know
