

The Only Sound That Matters

Robert Plant

Why are my words running together
I thought you'd anchor me down
Forget all that let's get out
Tonight it's you and me
Looking for the only sound that matters

Sometimes you're so misleading
Sometimes you just feel right
Put me to sleep so easily or keep me out all night
Looking for the only sound that matters
Is there one in here
Looking for the only sound that matters

And it's drawn to you like a compass

That's leading you on
Like a back light too
It's your protection
It's leaving it on
Waiting for your return the only sound that matters

Put me to sleep so easily or keep me out all night
Looking for the only sound that matters
Was it what you thought
Just looking for the only sound that matters
Yeah was it what you thought