

Most Of My Life

Robin Gibb

Most of my life, I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The friends that I thought I had were never there
You look for love, but you don't know where
And I'm in a race that could be any place
And when I was born, my life had slowly worn
The woman that I loved had slowly walked away
I tried to smile but that was yesterday
And most of my life, I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The friends that I thought I had were never there
You look for love, but you don't know where

And most of my life, I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The woman that I loved had sadly walked away
I tried to smile but that was yesterday
And most of my life, I've had to run away
Life was a game and I just had to play
The friends that I thought I had were never there
You look for love, but you don't know where
Most of my life and most of my life
And most of my life, and most of my life
And most of my life
