Robin Schulz

ОК

I really need you I really need your love right now I'm fading fast Not gonna last I'm really stupid I'm burning up, I'm going down I win it back Don't even ask When I found myself in the middle, in the middle, in the middle Could you love me more, just a little, just a little Overcomplicate when it's simple, when it's simple, when it's simple Would you love me more, just a little So tell me now When every star falls from the sky And every last heart in the world breaks Oh hold me now When every ship is going down I don't feel nothing when I hear you say It's gonna be OK It's gonna be OK It's gonna be OK It's gonna be OK I'm really sorry Sorry I dragged you into this I overthink, that's all it is The way you love me The way you love me 'til the end The way you love me Oh yeah, it makes me king again When I found myself in the middle, in the middle, in the middle Could you love me more, just a little, just a little Overcomplicate when it's simple, when it's simple, when it's simple Would you love me more, just a little So tell me now When every star falls from the sky And every last heart in the world breaks Oh hold me now When every ship is going down I don't feel nothing when I hear you say It's gonna be OK It's gonna be OK

It's gonna be OK It's gonna be OK It's gonna be OK It's gonna be OK

When every star falls from the sky And every last heart in the world breaks It's gonna be OK When every ship is going down I don't feel nothing when I hear you say It's gonna be OK