

Into the Flame

Robin Trower

One moment of madness
One leap into the flame
One moment of sadness
A fleeting glimpse, a lifetime's pain
Now fate has cast its spell
You've only got yourself to blame

One brief blinding vision
One cut against the grain
One brief fear of decision
So much to lose so much to gain
You tangled with the dice
You made your sacrifice in vain

Now fate has cast its spell
You've only got yourself to blame