

Solpadeine

Robyn Hitchcock

Last night I dreamed an angel kissed me
Solpadeine
Last night I dreamed an angel kissed me
Solpadeine, Solpadeine
And God had a feeling that turned into a girl
And then a woman
And then her bones
Solpadeine
And today I woke beside you
Solpadeine
Oh today I woke beside you
Solpadeine, Solpadeine
And I had a feeling that burned into my heart
And then my other, and then my bones
Solpadeine
Oh how can I walk without you
Solpadeine
Oh how can I walk without you
Solpadeine, Solpadeine
Ill die in the bedroom with the windows open wide
And all my family except for you
Solpadeine
I was waiting for the Soft Boys
Solpadeine
I was waiting for the Soft Boys
Solpadeine, Miss Solpadeine
And I saw them coming across the dying grass
That long hot summer you were born
Solpadeine, Solpadeine, Solpadeine