

You Remind Me Of You

Robyn Hitchcock

You remind me of you when I reach for myself
Deep in the water below
You're the reflection and I am the self
Self in a hurry with nowhere to go

You remind me of me when I stand on the deck
Feeling the wind in my hair
Out on the ocean I'm only a speck
Speck of existence with nobody there

You remind me of angels that come in the snow
Melting like candles, their diamonds glow
See all the water go, see all the water go by

You remind me of me when I reach for the hand
Suddenly taken away
Clutching at you I could drown on dry land
I'm left with my fingers on a good day

You remind me of you when you're down in the hold
I'll have your babies if you'll have my cold
See all the water go, see all the water go by, by
