Somebody Special

Rod Stewart

How can you say life's getting you down Get yourself out go along with the crowd You're all dressed up got nowhere to go You feel left out cause nobody showed listen babe

When you think you're the only one Who can't find love in this world Tell yourself there's another one Who's waiting for you, somewhere

Somebody special is thinking of you Somebody special is dreaming of you Somebody special is longing for you Somebody special, special

Magazine dreams are easy stuff
But heaven knows they ain't good enough
Picture yourself from reel to reel
And get your hands on that driving wheel
And you know what

When it's hard to satisfy
A simple simple fantasy
Somebody somewhere is on your side
Waiting for you, crying

Somebody special, is looking for you Somebody special, is searching for you Somebody special, is waiting for you Somebody special, somebody special

Maybe your heart's tormenting you Why should it have any reason to Wipe off that negativity
Put on some positivity

And when you think you're the only one Who can't find love in this world Tell yourself there's another one Who's waiting for you, somewhere

Somebody special, is dreaming of you Somebody special, is looking for you Somebody special, is waiting for you Somebody special, somebody special