I Love Being Lonesome

Roger Creager

CHORUS:
I love being lonesome, but I don't like being lonely
I wake up in the morning and there's no one lying beside me
I love em and leave em so I'll never find my one and only
I love being lonesome but I don't like being lonely

VERSE:
I'm a rider on a wild horse in the canyon running through the night I love that I have freedom in my soul and the way I live my life
But even cowboys need a lady's soft touch to help us settle down
But I love to hear the music in my heart and the way the highway sounds

CHORUS:
I love being lonesome, but I don't like being lonely
I wake up in the morning and there's no one lying
beside me
I love em and leave em so I'll never find my one and only
I love being lonesome but I don't like being lonely

I've tried and tried a thousnad times to make it work but I don't understand The difference in the feelings of a woman and the feelings of a man I run away each time I get a chance to fall in love and it just kills me
I need to find a lover I can trust a woman who can heal me

I love being lonesome, but I don't like being lonely
I wake up in the morning and there's no one lying
beside me
I love em and leave em so I'll never find my one and only
I love being lonesome but I don't like being lonely
